

NORMA ADVINCULA

As member of the Board of Directors, Norma would envision Foothill Community Health Center in the next half decade to be one of the leading healthcare providers expanding to reach additional community members and providing healthcare under the principle that all uninsured and underinsured individuals have the right to high quality healthcare at all times with due regard to their personal dignity.

Norma comes from a religious family orientation. Norma highly regards moral values and self-discipline which are values ingrained to her by her parents. Through hard work and perseverance, she obtained postgraduate education in Master of Arts, Master of Management and Doctor of Philosophy in Management.

Norma has a passion for traveling, gardening and listening to music. Her goal in life is to help people especially the underprivileged. For the last four years, she spent her life in San Jose and volunteered to teach Christian values to public school students at St. Victor's Parish Church.

In August 2017, she joined the FCHC Board of Directors to help achieve the mission of Foothill Community Health Center, to provide east San Jose community with high quality, comprehensive and affordable healthcare services.
